I need to work on a project where the same file can be loaded as a different class on runtime. What is the best alternative? A: Just for future reference... You can go for auto loading as well. As far as I know, this can be enabled in the bootstrap.php file `$Configure::write('Classloader.autoLoad', array('engine' => 'Cake',));` The engine defines which loader to use. If CakePHP is loaded as engine, the default cake php is used as a loader. If you are using another engine like Zend, it will use your own loader. Now, the file where the classes are loaded using autoload is determined by the loader. If the engine is Cake and cake is set to autoload the classes via the engine, it will look in `vendor\cakephp\cakephp\src\Engine\Cake`. By default, autoloading is enabled for all class files in `src\Engine`. If you want to disable it, you can take the source and find the lines where the cake instance is created and where the bootstrap.php loads the classes and mark these lines with a comment like this. `#engine::set('autoload', false);` Thanks, Ben Project Brief We are looking for a WordPress web developer who has a hand in creating responsive websites. We want to create a more robust, user-friendly design for this website to improve user experience. We're looking for someone who has a background in the design field and that can enhance the functionality of the website. We're also a pet friendly website, so there will be a strong emphasis on pet care information. Our website is built in WordPress on a responsive theme and our site is modern and responsive so it should be easy for this developer to implement. As mentioned, our site will focus on pets. We will be publishing a new pet article daily. We want to create a responsive, modern

I'm making it, but I need help on some of the maps. Please take a look here, and post your comments and ideas.. OS (Pokemon Sun/Moon if you're into that). 1.Q: Is it possible to use hardware acceleration in Windows Server 2008 running Windows Server 2003 Standard Edition and Windows Server 2003 Standard Enterprise Edition? I have some special data that I need to process, and I want to use hardware acceleration. Is there a way to do this on a server with only Standard Edition, but not Enterprise Edition? A: What's wrong with using the Standard edition? I don't see the problem there. Q: .each works with list of elements, but not with simple object I'm trying to bind a list of children to each select. However, despite working with lists with the.each method, doing the same thing with an object, it doesn't work at all. Code in jsfiddle. function bindDropDown(select) { var options = $("select[id^=employees]"); options.each(function(i, el) { $("", { value: $(el).attr('id'), text: $(el).attr('id') }).appendTo($(this)); }); } However, this works fine: function bindDropDown(select) { var options = $("select[id^=employees]"); options.each(function(i, el) { $("", { value: $(el).attr('id'), text: $(el).attr('id') }).appendTo($(this)); }); } I'm not sure what's going on here? A: The value, text properties on option elements are retrieved via DOM attribute access on edd6d56e20
